Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Sizing Hints for the Practical Slasher-Man If the equipment includes a storage tank the charge is transferred and kept hot by means Of a steam-jacket or a closed steam-coil and used as needed. If, however, the mixture is used direct from the kettle a closed steam coil should be used to keep the mass just boiling until exhausted. The boiling should be continued in the size-box where the evaporation is supposed to compensate for any dilution caused by the injection of steam. A steam jacketed size-box is not included in the usual equipment. Such an installation, having no compensating dilution from steam, is liable to cause an undesirable concentration which must be controlled, preferably by the injection of steam.
